HAZELET'S JOURNAL A RIVETING ALASKA GOLD RUSH SAGA, THE COPPER RIVER VALLEY 1898

By George Cheever Hazelet, Editor John H. Clark IV

DESCRIPTION

Hazelet's Journal by George Cheever Hazelet is a riveting Alaska Gold Rush saga that takes place in the Copper River Country from 1898 to 1902.

It is a remarkable true story, not only about a man and his family, but about a nation finding its way into the twentieth century. It is a timeless story about a restless nation and the great American spirit that our country was founded upon.

It's a true, unedited American story, told in the journalist's original voice, now captured for generations to come.

AUTHOR/CONTRIBUTORS

EDITOR: John Clark received a BA in fine arts from the University of New Mexico and founded and ran a printing and manufacturing company located in Louisville, Kentucky for twenty-seven years.
